

General Council Voices Approval Of Action Of E. L. Gray, M.L.A. re Unity

3021 and ask for the low six-day rate.

Published every afternoon except Sunday by the Alberta Free Press, Limited, at The Bulletin Building, 9641 Jasper Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada.
CHARLES E. CAMPBELL,
Owner and Publisher.

IF IT WILL HELP ALBERTA THE
EDMONTON BULLETIN IS FOR IT

MONDAY, JUNE 19, 1939

More Taxpayers Needed

Edmonton taxpayers cannot get much comfort, nor the city much help, out of the report of a New York investigator which shows the per capita bonded debt of this city to be higher than that of any other city in Canada. Edmonton's fixed indebtedness—utility debts excluded—is shown to amount to $230.19 per head of the city's population. The figures for Winnipeg, the lowest on the list, are $42.79.

The point is obvious that Edmonton needed debt reduction—which it didn't get—far more than Winnipeg. Broadly speaking, the showing is that debt charges impose a burden upon the Edmonton taxpayer about six times as heavy as the burden upon the Winnipeg taxpayer. As Winnipeg had to appeal to the provincial legislature not long ago to save it from an engulfing debt, the burden of the tax-levy of that city must wonder how his Edmonton contemporary stands the strain.

Since the debt was not reduced, the practical consideration now is how the burden can be lightened. There are two ways open to the city. One is in the direction in which no progress has yet been made. The other is to increase the number of taxpayers, and thus cut down the average debt charge. This involves the restoring of confiscated property to private ownership which can only be done in the carrying out of a project to build houses and sell them. Nobody is going to buy vacant lots just to get the privilege of paying taxes on them.

Edmonton's bond-holders should be as anxious as anyone else to get some sort of a house-building campaign under way. More than anything else they can do, that would make their investment more valuable than to continue to collect their present outrageous bond interest rates of 4, 5, 6 and 7 per cent.

Three in One Month

Another submarine has gone down to stay, this time in French boat, all hope abandoned for the 71 officers and men aboard.

This is the third disaster to under-sea war-craft in a month. The third, that is, that the world knows about. There may have been others, as many others, which have not been reported in the newspapers. The lords of the totalitarian countries do not have to publish information about mishaps that occur to their fighting machines afloat or ashore, and do not do so.

Only governments whose subjects insist upon knowing what becomes of their sea-monsters and their related sea-craft, such bad news. As many German, Italian, and Japanese subs may have gone down also this month, and that is likely enough, for the under-water boat is an unreliable craft under any flag.

The three tragedies, to ships of the United States, British and French fleets, occurring in quick succession, will to many minds suggest "sabotage," committed by agents of the aggressor states. Sober thought must reject any such notion. One wreck occurred on the eastern coast of this continent, another off the shores of England, the third in the China Sea. Supporting them to have the will, it cannot be imagined the aggressors have built up a world-wide organization of destruction, designed—by the way—to wreck a type of boat not particularly useful in defence against the kind of warfare for which they are only dimly prepared. Submarines cannot counter attacks by air bombers.

Pending the findings of investigating bodies, the reasonable assumption is that these were all accidents in the true sense of the word. The submarine at best is a hazardous toy, and the men who serve on them must be of the stuff of which heroes are made.

In Desperation

For whatever credit they can get out of it, the Japanese military junta can truthfully say that they are the only foreign residents of Tientsin and Amoy who they are doing in lesser degree to the people of Japan. If they have cut off food supplies to the people in the foreign concessions in those Chinese cities, they are also cutting off food and other supplies from their countryfolk, though by other means and less drastically.

New orders were issued at Tokyo the other day telling the Japanese civilians that they must tighten their belts a few more notches. It is explained that, by the measures incidental to a totalitarian type administration, the productive resources of the country are to be devoted in the first place to support the army, second to expand production of war requirements, third to sustain export trade, fourth to keep trade moving in the yen-block, and fifth to meet the needs of the Japanese people. These come in fifth place—and the fifth helping from the sadly inadequate heap of production is bound to be skimpy.

The fact, of course, is that Japan is not able to support the cost of the war and also support its own people at even their normally pitiful scale of living. And since the war is being fought in control, it is the Japanese peasants and working classes who must take the cut.

The widely-touted pretence of a year or so ago, that the ingenious Japanese junkers had discovered a way to make Social Credit work backwards—with the war as the basis in control, it is the large military expenditures abroad while maintaining normal conditions at home—has been abandoned. This is admitted in the terms of the new belt-tightening order just promulgated.

The army bogged down in China, their country empty and headed for bankruptcy, their own precious jobs and reputations at stake, the military leaders are resorting to the torture of hostages in their attempt to compel other countries to help them win the war they have little or no prospect of winning by themselves.

In 20 years United States motorists and foreign tourists visiting that country have paid gasoline taxes to the amount of $8,000,000,000. This is more than twice the national debt of Canada. Still, even so, Canadians are to think strange that there are so many more hard-surfaced highways in the United States than in the Dominion.

In about ten days Pan American Airways will open the first Trans-Atlantic passenger service by airplane. It will be also the first regular service by air, for though the Graf Zeppelin carried passengers it did not operate on fixed schedule. One-way tickets will cost $375, return tickets $675, so the steamships will not be deserted for a while. From New York to Marseilles the passage will take 48 hours elapsed time, including an overnight stop at Lisbon, Portugal. Parents of some of the older residents of Canada took that many days to reach this country from Europe in sailing ships.

Fifty Years Ago

According to the license law of Manitoba, hotel keepers are required to have their applications endorsed by sixteen out of twenty of the nearest residents. This provision has resulted in the late John A. Vinder, of Winnipeg, and other places, being closed up. In Winnipeg there are 87 hotels or one to every 650 of the population.

E. J. Lawrence of the Irene Indian training school at Vermilion is here.

Forty Years Ago

A sample of cold brought down by J. R. Brenton from a seaman on the Peace River has been analyzed and found to be a case of typhoid fever. The seaman was elected president of the reorganized football club, G. J. Bryan is vice-president, captain J. Stewart and W. J. Hanna is secretary-treasurer. Committee of management is composed of McLeod, Ross and Sibbald.

Thirty Years Ago

James Moran, who has returned from Grande Prairie, reports that settlers are pouring into that district and other parts of the Peace River country.

The plumbers and steam-fitters of the city went on strike this morning in support of the carpenters. The latter also threaten to strike. The plumbers' result is a decisive majority in favor of Sunday arrest cars.

Twenty Years Ago

Ottawa: The Senate decided today that orders-in-council relating to the importation, manufacture and transportation of intoxicating liquors in Canada shall terminate with the signing of the peace treaty.

Berlin: German peace delegates have drafted a memorandum advising the government to refuse to sign the peace treaty. They threaten to resign if it is not accepted.

A fish market will be built on the market square.

Ten Years Ago

London: An Imperial Airways liner, crashed off Dunstaffnage, seven lives being lost. London: General Basil Bouch, former head of the Salvation Army, died on Sunday.

Cape Town: The Heriot government came to the general elections with a majority of eight.

More than 90,000,000 bushels of wheat have left the port of Vancouver since the opening of the shipping season last fall.

A party of French Canadians, recruited in eastern Canada and the New England states, arrived in the city on Monday and left by the Dunstaffnage train for Peace River, where they will locate. The party comprised 60 heads of families.

Current Comment

News Services

Not long ago Lord Rivedale, in a speech before the Winnipeg Board of Trade, made somewhat disparaging references to the news which he had found in the newspapers of Canada and the United States. This news, he suggested, was inaccurate in its facts and was displayed falsely.

Lord Rivedale, who is a steel man by trade as a buy man at that, is unfortunately no expert in analyzing the newspapers to which he can give but hurried attention. It may therefore be worth setting forth another opinion which comes from Mr. Graham Hutton, a well-known and highly responsible English journalist who was until lately assistant editor of the Economist. Said Mr. Hutton on a recent visit to this country:

Service of international news here is remarkable. It is much more comprehensive than anything we have in England, or for that matter in any part of Europe. You people here are much more abreast of what is actually happening than those actually on the scene of operations.

Nobody better than working newspapermen know the full difficulties of finding and reporting facts. None better than they know how fully distortion can, and does, take place. Hutton's compliment then is something to be assessed at a somewhat higher valuation than judgment of an amateur—Winnipeg Free Press.

Blunder and Insult

It was not necessary to take special measures for the protection of the King and Queen during their visit to the Dominion. The Chief of Police Bischoffberger and Chief Dufresne of Montreal did not fail to point out, as they were needed to do, the fullness of the mid of popular enthusiasm. There was no more an automobile with bullet-proof glass here than there was anywhere else. In fact, the King and Queen were given a landau for the official ceremonies in the Federal Parliament. There was nothing extraordinary in that, since the landau was also that of the Governor-General, the personal representative of His Majesty in Canada. In other cases our Royal guests travelled in the same automobiles as the Governor-General. The lines under the photograph in the American magazine are at once a monumental blunder and an insoluble insult. The majority of people will have perceived the fault. The mistake was because of the circulation of the periodical which was guilty of this insult, it is necessary to make a correction for the sake of those who might be deceived. The Province of Quebec received King George VI and Queen Elizabeth with all its heart. It showed itself, in its true colors, and all the time their Majesties enjoyed a perfect security without its ever being necessary to take the precautions of which these fan-farious Canadians are so fond. —La Presse (Montreal).

Where Are the Indian Athletes?

Frank Cross-the-River, a famous Indian athlete of half a century ago (the one played lacrosse before Queen Victoria), is dead at the age of 90 on the Indian reservation at Caughana, Quebec.

This prompts one to ask where today are the successors of the men who, a generation or two ago, won fame for the Indian race on athletic fields. India today is among the greatest of our lacrosse players; the game that we copied from them they could play with a dash that few could equal. Yet it seems to me that the game of an Indian playing lacrosse, not indeed, since Tom Longboat have we noted an Indian excelling in any game.

As to the United States. Twenty-five or thirty years ago the Carlisle Indians swept nearly everything before them on the football fields of the United States. They were coached by Pop Warner coaching them, they were a mighty team, produced the man who, by common consent, was perhaps the greatest football player and all-round athlete of all time. Yet today the game was not only not played on the gridiron; he was a fine baseball player and a great track star as well.

Today one never hears of Indians in United States football. Carlisle, apparently, is out of football; nor does one ever hear much of the red man in any other branch of sports. It is, to say the least, a curious thing—Ottawa Journal.

Sir Thomas Is Angry

The public says Sir Thomas Beaman, do not deserve an opera season. He will "do his best" to give them one. He blames the lack of support in London on the public's "condition of mind" caused by the war.

Unfortunately the public is usually right, in the sense that it will go to any lengths to see and hear what it wants. It is not the fault of Sir Thomas if it is not. It may be because the singing is not good enough, or the opera is inferior or worn threadbare, or the price of admission is too high, or because the conductor is unable to make the psychological contact with his hearers which he must make to succeed.

In three days when the opera season is under way, when can achieve fortissimo through the radio loud-speaker, and when moving pictures can be shown in the light and air of the open fields, the stage has competition it never had before. The only way it can meet this is by a closer study of the public tastes and by a closer contact with the public. It is not the fault of Sir Thomas if it is not. It may be because the singing is not good enough, or the opera is inferior or worn threadbare, or the price of admission is too high, or because the conductor is unable to make the psychological contact with his hearers which he must make to succeed.

On the other hand, the opera season is under way, when can achieve fortissimo through the radio loud-speaker, and when moving pictures can be shown in the light and air of the open fields, the stage has competition it never had before. The only way it can meet this is by a closer study of the public tastes and by a closer contact with the public. It is not the fault of Sir Thomas if it is not. It may be because the singing is not good enough, or the opera is inferior or worn threadbare, or the price of admission is too high, or because the conductor is unable to make the psychological contact with his hearers which he must make to succeed.

Every one of us is more than a bundle of inherited tendencies. He is a free spirit, capable of the best and the worst, and he is free to choose.

We claim our birthright blessing of British citizenship. We claim the right to share the family likeness, in all high and holy endeavor. Amen.

Read Philippa's life.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Now that the Royal Visit to United States, with all its glamor and heart-burnings, has been successfully concluded, a new British ambassador to United States will shortly succeed Sir Ronald Lindsay. The appointment of the Marquess of Louthian is a significant one. He is holder of one of the most ancient of British titles and possessor of one of its largest fortunes. He is the most intellectual holder of that office since Viscount Bryce, who, I remember, shortly before his elevation to the peerage, wandering about the Union station in Toronto. The reception committee was looking for a much more imposing figure than that possessed by the author of "The Holy Roman Empire" and "The American Commonwealth." So I carried his bag and introduced him to the reception committee.

There have been honored, wealthy and brilliant men at Washington. The significance of the appointment of the Marquess of Louthian is that he is the outstanding British advocate of an Anglo-American alliance to police the world.

The silly, ancient custom of changing the name under which a man has rendered great service when he enters upon a peerage, robs the Marquess of his identity. His name is best known as Philip Kerr, who served as secretary to David Lloyd George during the war years, and who was later knighted for his services to the reception committee.

He is a Liberal, and with little expectation of inhering a peerage, Philip Kerr refused all titles, as he regarded them as a disgrace. Though he was later given the rare Cross of the Companion of Honor. Since then he has served as Secretary for the Rhodes Scholarship Trust, as chairman of the Distinguished Foreigners to the National government and as Under-Secretary of State for India. He headed the India Commission, and was later knighted for his services to the gradual extension of self-government for India.

The Marquess, who succeeded to the title and an immense fortune on the death of his cousin in 1908, is one of the "Cliveden set." In 1938 he spent some time in the Chancellery Hotel in Germany, and returned to England as an advocate of Anglo-German friendship. He had been befriended by Herr Hitler, and he had no intention of a good friend adding Austria to the Reich.

"I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

Godesberg convinced me I was wrong and that the policy of appeasement which I was generally understood, had failed," he stated. "Since Godesberg it has become clear that German aims outrun German rights."

Hitler lost a very sincere and influential friend when he gave the Marquess of Louthian the double-cross. He is generally understood, had failed," he stated. "Since Godesberg it has become clear that German aims outrun German rights."

An admirer of Wilson and advocate of the League of Nations, the Marquess has never ceased to work for the entry of Great Britain into the League. He was a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

Side Glances

By J. S. COWPER

Now that the Royal Visit to United States, with all its glamor and heart-burnings, has been successfully concluded, a new British ambassador to United States will shortly succeed Sir Ronald Lindsay. The appointment of the Marquess of Louthian is a significant one. He is holder of one of the most ancient of British titles and possessor of one of its largest fortunes. He is the most intellectual holder of that office since Viscount Bryce, who, I remember, shortly before his elevation to the peerage, wandering about the Union station in Toronto. The reception committee was looking for a much more imposing figure than that possessed by the author of "The Holy Roman Empire" and "The American Commonwealth." So I carried his bag and introduced him to the reception committee.

There have been honored, wealthy and brilliant men at Washington. The significance of the appointment of the Marquess of Louthian is that he is the outstanding British advocate of an Anglo-American alliance to police the world.

The silly, ancient custom of changing the name under which a man has rendered great service when he enters upon a peerage, robs the Marquess of his identity. His name is best known as Philip Kerr, who served as secretary to David Lloyd George during the war years, and who was later knighted for his services to the reception committee.

He is a Liberal, and with little expectation of inhering a peerage, Philip Kerr refused all titles, as he regarded them as a disgrace. Though he was later given the rare Cross of the Companion of Honor. Since then he has served as Secretary for the Rhodes Scholarship Trust, as chairman of the Distinguished Foreigners to the National government and as Under-Secretary of State for India. He headed the India Commission, and was later knighted for his services to the gradual extension of self-government for India.

The Marquess, who succeeded to the title and an immense fortune on the death of his cousin in 1908, is one of the "Cliveden set." In 1938 he spent some time in the Chancellery Hotel in Germany, and returned to England as an advocate of Anglo-German friendship. He had been befriended by Herr Hitler, and he had no intention of a good friend adding Austria to the Reich.

"I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

Godesberg convinced me I was wrong and that the policy of appeasement which I was generally understood, had failed," he stated. "Since Godesberg it has become clear that German aims outrun German rights."

Hitler lost a very sincere and influential friend when he gave the Marquess of Louthian the double-cross. He is generally understood, had failed," he stated. "Since Godesberg it has become clear that German aims outrun German rights."

An admirer of Wilson and advocate of the League of Nations, the Marquess has never ceased to work for the entry of Great Britain into the League. He was a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska, Australia, and Zealand. Now after the war, he is a member of the House of Lords. He is a member of the House of Lords in 1937 by saying "Britain could not have emerged a victor from the World War without the assistance of the United States before and after her entrance."

He started the peers again in July of 1938 by saying "I believe Hitler is sincere," he said. It was a cruel disillusioning blow. Hitler not only took Austria but unfolded his demands at Godesberg for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Until then, the Marquess had believed in the possibility of world peace through German appeasement.

And now the Empire has another baronet, Harry Oakes, who prospected in Alaska

SECOND SECTION

EDMONTON, ALBERTA—MONDAY, JUNE 19, 1939

PAGE NINE

PASTOR GIVES CANDID ADVICE TO HIS FLOCK

Rev. McMinin Bases Sermon on "Mind Your Own Business" Topic

"A bit of candid advice" was offered the congregation at McMinin United Church by the pastor, Rev. A. K. McMinin, last evening. Basing his talk on the advice given to John by Jesus, Mr. McMinin told members of the congregation to "mind their own business."

There are two general classes of people in the world today, said the pastor, one who is contented about what others do and of the position and privileges others succeed in securing. The second class was named as being very much in demand by the tyranny of public opinion.

MIND OWN BUSINESS

"When we mind our own business we keep us from worrying about others," said Mr. McMinin. "Each person has his own little piece of work to complete and no one does the same kind of work in the same way." It was the duty of each person to do his own special bit of work he will learn to appreciate the work of others because they, too, are original.

REAL VIEWS

Continuing a series of talks planned for the month of June in which the pastor is interpreting the effect of the Royal Visit to Canada of their Majesties, Rev. George A. Macdonald, addressed the congregation at Knox United Church Sunday evening on "The King, Our Sovereign." The sermon dealt with the influence of the visit to the King and Queen on the religious life of the country.

"No one can make a complete appraisal of the Royal visit and ignore the quiet work of the King and Queen in the Christian church on earth, in mountain peaks and at the national capital," declared Mr. Macdonald. "All this expression of faith was careless of the national background, and nevertheless the Christian church," he added.

GRACE INFLUENCE

"This will be of great influence in the day when organized religion is being questioned," he said. "As the Royal yacht slowly disappears in the mist of the Atlantic Ocean, the ship slowly disappears. Their Majesties towards welcoming hearts in the British Isles, it is upon the eternal word upon which our beloved sovereign and the humblest servant declares his faith that the crown of the world rests today."

HOUSING, RELIEF CONDITIONS ARE ATTACKED HERE

Edmonton has the lowest rating in Canada in housing conditions, the declared Patrick Burke, chairman of the Housing Committee of the unemployed. He said that the city should take advantage of the building boom to improve housing conditions in the city.

Bureau of relief and public welfare act recently passed by the provincial government, was assailed by Miss Margaret C. Hays, who said that the act made it impossible for the unemployed to find work. She said that the act was a hindrance to the unemployed and that it was a hindrance to the city.

He urged the formation of an unemployed organization to bring all relief recipients in the city. The meeting decided to form a committee to study the problem of the unemployed.

Housing conditions are a disgrace in Edmonton and all over the province, declared John Green, who said that the government should take advantage of the building boom to improve housing conditions in the city.

Store Looted

Thieves broke into Harry Tait's Grocery at the corner of 118 and 10th streets last night and stole $5 worth of cigarettes, police reported Monday.

R.F. MAINWOOD

521 Tegler Bldg.

Heads United FRENCH FOLK IN CITY FETE PATRON SAINT

800 Gather Sunday At Church Of Immaculate Conception

More than 800 people gathered at the Immaculate Conception church Sunday morning as the French people of this city held their annual reunion in honor of St. Jean Baptiste, their Patron Saint. Father Strain, O.F.M., who addressed the congregation, asked the gathering to follow the wonderful example set by the saint. Solemn high mass was conducted by Father F. X. Bellevue, R.C.

Following the religious services in the morning, St. Jean Baptiste and evening of recreation and entertainment followed. The afternoon session of the festival was held at the church. The evening session was held at the church.

The Inquiring Reporter

What do you think of the revival of bringing that is sweeping across the world—in this country, the United States, Great Britain, France and elsewhere?

In the halcyon days before the automobile, the first line of the bicycle was a tribute to the people using it. Cycling is a splendid exercise and is recommended by doctors as such. Also, for the average person, it is a sufficiently strenuous exercise to get from one place to another. If there were more bicycles, and probably there would be fewer accidents.

Donald Dewar, a Macdonald hotel staff, is heartily in favor of the bicycle. He has nothing against the automobile, but he likes the bicycle as a tribute to the people using it. He has nothing against the automobile, but he likes the bicycle as a tribute to the people using it.

Following the building of the first school, construction went forward rapidly and today there are 17 schools in the city. The city is now a city of 17 schools.

Present chairman of the Edmonton School Board is J. O. Pilon, secretary-treasurer and superintendent is A. A. O'Brien. The board is under the supervision of the board of trustees. The board is under the supervision of the board of trustees.

Edmonton styles for men remain the same, but the city is now a city of 17 schools. The city is now a city of 17 schools.

STYLES CHANGE EAST CENTRES BUT NOT HERE

Edmonton styles for men remain the same, but the city is now a city of 17 schools. The city is now a city of 17 schools.

Federal Man Here

Member of the Dominion government's Workmen's Compensation Board, Department of Trade and Commerce, is in Edmonton on a periodic visit and will be here for two or three days. He is at the Macdonald.

Military Orders

The Legion of Frontiersmen Squadron orders by Lieut. C. H. Hays, who said that the act made it impossible for the unemployed to find work. She said that the act was a hindrance to the unemployed and that it was a hindrance to the city.

Governor ROYAL PAIR GIVE THANKS FOR WELCOME

Request Lieutenant-Governor To Express Appreciation To People

Nampted with letters and telegrams bidding them "God speed and a safe return." Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth have had to recourse to a broadcast message in each province in reply, as it would have been a physical impossibility for the King and Queen to have attempted personal replies.

The Alberta message was received in Edmonton this morning by His Honor Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen, with a request that it be transmitted to the press. The radio from the Empress of Britain on Sunday, June 18, was received here. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Shawfield, 1172 W. street. He graduated from the University of Alberta with his M.A. degree in 1933, and was awarded a scholarship, allowing him to do one year of study in France. A second scholarship, received the following year, gave him one year at Cornell University. On completion of his scholarship he was offered a position on the staff of the university.

A-R-O-U-N-D THE TOWN

Ray Seale, Girl Guides, Clubs and Bowmen took part in the annual service of St. Paul's Anglican church held on the church grounds Sunday. The service was conducted by Rev. Canon S. F. Tackaberry, assisted by Mr. Curry.

SCHOOL BOARD CELEBRATING ANNIVERSARY

Edmonton Separate School Board, which established its first school near 110 street in 1893, is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary. The board was formed three years after the Edmonton public school board was organized.

First board had as its chairman treasurer and secretary, George Roy, Luke Kelly and Antonio Prince, respectively. The board was formed three years after the Edmonton public school board was organized.

Following the building of the first school, construction went forward rapidly and today there are 17 schools in the city. The city is now a city of 17 schools.

Present chairman of the Edmonton School Board is J. O. Pilon, secretary-treasurer and superintendent is A. A. O'Brien. The board is under the supervision of the board of trustees. The board is under the supervision of the board of trustees.

Rev. W. M. Grant PREACHES FINAL SERMON IN CITY

Rev. W. M. Grant, D.D., minister of Metropolitan United Church, preached his final sermon in the city Sunday afternoon. He will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

After an inspection of the city, he will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

After an inspection of the city, he will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

After an inspection of the city, he will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

Eastern Canada Sympathetic To West's Problems

There is a sympathetic attitude in many circles in Eastern Canada toward the west's grain problem, declared L. W. Brockington, K.C., secretary of the Northwest Grain Dealers' Association, at a meeting of the association in the Macdonald Saturday. He stated that the problem of obtaining wheat for Western Canada's wheat was of vital importance to the whole of the Dominion and not only to the west.

Governor ROYAL PAIR GIVE THANKS FOR WELCOME

Request Lieutenant-Governor To Express Appreciation To People

Nampted with letters and telegrams bidding them "God speed and a safe return." Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth have had to recourse to a broadcast message in each province in reply, as it would have been a physical impossibility for the King and Queen to have attempted personal replies.

The Alberta message was received in Edmonton this morning by His Honor Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen, with a request that it be transmitted to the press. The radio from the Empress of Britain on Sunday, June 18, was received here. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Shawfield, 1172 W. street. He graduated from the University of Alberta with his M.A. degree in 1933, and was awarded a scholarship, allowing him to do one year of study in France. A second scholarship, received the following year, gave him one year at Cornell University. On completion of his scholarship he was offered a position on the staff of the university.

A-R-O-U-N-D THE TOWN

Ray Seale, Girl Guides, Clubs and Bowmen took part in the annual service of St. Paul's Anglican church held on the church grounds Sunday. The service was conducted by Rev. Canon S. F. Tackaberry, assisted by Mr. Curry.

SCHOOL BOARD CELEBRATING ANNIVERSARY

Edmonton Separate School Board, which established its first school near 110 street in 1893, is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary. The board was formed three years after the Edmonton public school board was organized.

First board had as its chairman treasurer and secretary, George Roy, Luke Kelly and Antonio Prince, respectively. The board was formed three years after the Edmonton public school board was organized.

Following the building of the first school, construction went forward rapidly and today there are 17 schools in the city. The city is now a city of 17 schools.

Present chairman of the Edmonton School Board is J. O. Pilon, secretary-treasurer and superintendent is A. A. O'Brien. The board is under the supervision of the board of trustees. The board is under the supervision of the board of trustees.

Rev. W. M. Grant PREACHES FINAL SERMON IN CITY

Rev. W. M. Grant, D.D., minister of Metropolitan United Church, preached his final sermon in the city Sunday afternoon. He will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

After an inspection of the city, he will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

After an inspection of the city, he will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

After an inspection of the city, he will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

Eastern Canada Sympathetic To West's Problems

There is a sympathetic attitude in many circles in Eastern Canada toward the west's grain problem, declared L. W. Brockington, K.C., secretary of the Northwest Grain Dealers' Association, at a meeting of the association in the Macdonald Saturday. He stated that the problem of obtaining wheat for Western Canada's wheat was of vital importance to the whole of the Dominion and not only to the west.

Governor ROYAL PAIR GIVE THANKS FOR WELCOME

Request Lieutenant-Governor To Express Appreciation To People

Nampted with letters and telegrams bidding them "God speed and a safe return." Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth have had to recourse to a broadcast message in each province in reply, as it would have been a physical impossibility for the King and Queen to have attempted personal replies.

The Alberta message was received in Edmonton this morning by His Honor Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen, with a request that it be transmitted to the press. The radio from the Empress of Britain on Sunday, June 18, was received here. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Shawfield, 1172 W. street. He graduated from the University of Alberta with his M.A. degree in 1933, and was awarded a scholarship, allowing him to do one year of study in France. A second scholarship, received the following year, gave him one year at Cornell University. On completion of his scholarship he was offered a position on the staff of the university.

A-R-O-U-N-D THE TOWN

Ray Seale, Girl Guides, Clubs and Bowmen took part in the annual service of St. Paul's Anglican church held on the church grounds Sunday. The service was conducted by Rev. Canon S. F. Tackaberry, assisted by Mr. Curry.

SCHOOL BOARD CELEBRATING ANNIVERSARY

Edmonton Separate School Board, which established its first school near 110 street in 1893, is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary. The board was formed three years after the Edmonton public school board was organized.

First board had as its chairman treasurer and secretary, George Roy, Luke Kelly and Antonio Prince, respectively. The board was formed three years after the Edmonton public school board was organized.

Following the building of the first school, construction went forward rapidly and today there are 17 schools in the city. The city is now a city of 17 schools.

Present chairman of the Edmonton School Board is J. O. Pilon, secretary-treasurer and superintendent is A. A. O'Brien. The board is under the supervision of the board of trustees. The board is under the supervision of the board of trustees.

Rev. W. M. Grant PREACHES FINAL SERMON IN CITY

Rev. W. M. Grant, D.D., minister of Metropolitan United Church, preached his final sermon in the city Sunday afternoon. He will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

After an inspection of the city, he will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

After an inspection of the city, he will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

After an inspection of the city, he will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

Eastern Canada Sympathetic To West's Problems

There is a sympathetic attitude in many circles in Eastern Canada toward the west's grain problem, declared L. W. Brockington, K.C., secretary of the Northwest Grain Dealers' Association, at a meeting of the association in the Macdonald Saturday. He stated that the problem of obtaining wheat for Western Canada's wheat was of vital importance to the whole of the Dominion and not only to the west.

Governor ROYAL PAIR GIVE THANKS FOR WELCOME

Request Lieutenant-Governor To Express Appreciation To People

Nampted with letters and telegrams bidding them "God speed and a safe return." Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth have had to recourse to a broadcast message in each province in reply, as it would have been a physical impossibility for the King and Queen to have attempted personal replies.

The Alberta message was received in Edmonton this morning by His Honor Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen, with a request that it be transmitted to the press. The radio from the Empress of Britain on Sunday, June 18, was received here. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Shawfield, 1172 W. street. He graduated from the University of Alberta with his M.A. degree in 1933, and was awarded a scholarship, allowing him to do one year of study in France. A second scholarship, received the following year, gave him one year at Cornell University. On completion of his scholarship he was offered a position on the staff of the university.

A-R-O-U-N-D THE TOWN

Ray Seale, Girl Guides, Clubs and Bowmen took part in the annual service of St. Paul's Anglican church held on the church grounds Sunday. The service was conducted by Rev. Canon S. F. Tackaberry, assisted by Mr. Curry.

SCHOOL BOARD CELEBRATING ANNIVERSARY

Edmonton Separate School Board, which established its first school near 110 street in 1893, is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary. The board was formed three years after the Edmonton public school board was organized.

First board had as its chairman treasurer and secretary, George Roy, Luke Kelly and Antonio Prince, respectively. The board was formed three years after the Edmonton public school board was organized.

Following the building of the first school, construction went forward rapidly and today there are 17 schools in the city. The city is now a city of 17 schools.

Present chairman of the Edmonton School Board is J. O. Pilon, secretary-treasurer and superintendent is A. A. O'Brien. The board is under the supervision of the board of trustees. The board is under the supervision of the board of trustees.

Rev. W. M. Grant PREACHES FINAL SERMON IN CITY

Rev. W. M. Grant, D.D., minister of Metropolitan United Church, preached his final sermon in the city Sunday afternoon. He will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

After an inspection of the city, he will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

After an inspection of the city, he will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

After an inspection of the city, he will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

Eastern Canada Sympathetic To West's Problems

There is a sympathetic attitude in many circles in Eastern Canada toward the west's grain problem, declared L. W. Brockington, K.C., secretary of the Northwest Grain Dealers' Association, at a meeting of the association in the Macdonald Saturday. He stated that the problem of obtaining wheat for Western Canada's wheat was of vital importance to the whole of the Dominion and not only to the west.

Governor ROYAL PAIR GIVE THANKS FOR WELCOME

Request Lieutenant-Governor To Express Appreciation To People

Nampted with letters and telegrams bidding them "God speed and a safe return." Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth have had to recourse to a broadcast message in each province in reply, as it would have been a physical impossibility for the King and Queen to have attempted personal replies.

The Alberta message was received in Edmonton this morning by His Honor Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen, with a request that it be transmitted to the press. The radio from the Empress of Britain on Sunday, June 18, was received here. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Shawfield, 1172 W. street. He graduated from the University of Alberta with his M.A. degree in 1933, and was awarded a scholarship, allowing him to do one year of study in France. A second scholarship, received the following year, gave him one year at Cornell University. On completion of his scholarship he was offered a position on the staff of the university.

A-R-O-U-N-D THE TOWN

Ray Seale, Girl Guides, Clubs and Bowmen took part in the annual service of St. Paul's Anglican church held on the church grounds Sunday. The service was conducted by Rev. Canon S. F. Tackaberry, assisted by Mr. Curry.

SCHOOL BOARD CELEBRATING ANNIVERSARY

Edmonton Separate School Board, which established its first school near 110 street in 1893, is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary. The board was formed three years after the Edmonton public school board was organized.

First board had as its chairman treasurer and secretary, George Roy, Luke Kelly and Antonio Prince, respectively. The board was formed three years after the Edmonton public school board was organized.

Following the building of the first school, construction went forward rapidly and today there are 17 schools in the city. The city is now a city of 17 schools.

Present chairman of the Edmonton School Board is J. O. Pilon, secretary-treasurer and superintendent is A. A. O'Brien. The board is under the supervision of the board of trustees. The board is under the supervision of the board of trustees.

Rev. W. M. Grant PREACHES FINAL SERMON IN CITY

Rev. W. M. Grant, D.D., minister of Metropolitan United Church, preached his final sermon in the city Sunday afternoon. He will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

After an inspection of the city, he will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

After an inspection of the city, he will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

After an inspection of the city, he will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

Eastern Canada Sympathetic To West's Problems

There is a sympathetic attitude in many circles in Eastern Canada toward the west's grain problem, declared L. W. Brockington, K.C., secretary of the Northwest Grain Dealers' Association, at a meeting of the association in the Macdonald Saturday. He stated that the problem of obtaining wheat for Western Canada's wheat was of vital importance to the whole of the Dominion and not only to the west.

Governor ROYAL PAIR GIVE THANKS FOR WELCOME

Request Lieutenant-Governor To Express Appreciation To People

Nampted with letters and telegrams bidding them "God speed and a safe return." Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth have had to recourse to a broadcast message in each province in reply, as it would have been a physical impossibility for the King and Queen to have attempted personal replies.

The Alberta message was received in Edmonton this morning by His Honor Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen, with a request that it be transmitted to the press. The radio from the Empress of Britain on Sunday, June 18, was received here. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Shawfield, 1172 W. street. He graduated from the University of Alberta with his M.A. degree in 1933, and was awarded a scholarship, allowing him to do one year of study in France. A second scholarship, received the following year, gave him one year at Cornell University. On completion of his scholarship he was offered a position on the staff of the university.

A-R-O-U-N-D THE TOWN

Ray Seale, Girl Guides, Clubs and Bowmen took part in the annual service of St. Paul's Anglican church held on the church grounds Sunday. The service was conducted by Rev. Canon S. F. Tackaberry, assisted by Mr. Curry.

SCHOOL BOARD CELEBRATING ANNIVERSARY

Edmonton Separate School Board, which established its first school near 110 street in 1893, is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary. The board was formed three years after the Edmonton public school board was organized.

First board had as its chairman treasurer and secretary, George Roy, Luke Kelly and Antonio Prince, respectively. The board was formed three years after the Edmonton public school board was organized.

Following the building of the first school, construction went forward rapidly and today there are 17 schools in the city. The city is now a city of 17 schools.

Present chairman of the Edmonton School Board is J. O. Pilon, secretary-treasurer and superintendent is A. A. O'Brien. The board is under the supervision of the board of trustees. The board is under the supervision of the board of trustees.

Rev. W. M. Grant PREACHES FINAL SERMON IN CITY

Rev. W. M. Grant, D.D., minister of Metropolitan United Church, preached his final sermon in the city Sunday afternoon. He will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

After an inspection of the city, he will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

After an inspection of the city, he will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

After an inspection of the city, he will be leaving the city for his home in Winnipeg.

Eastern Canada Sympathetic To West's Problems

There is a sympathetic attitude in many circles in Eastern Canada toward the west's grain problem, declared L. W. Brockington, K.C., secretary of the Northwest Grain Dealers' Association, at a meeting of the association in the Macdonald Saturday. He stated that the problem of obtaining wheat for Western Canada's wheat was of vital importance to the whole of the Dominion and not only to the west.

—By Merrill Blosser

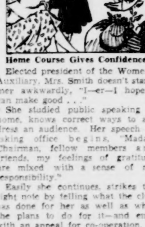

THE OTHER
GOT A

they're that confident, their life has been spoiled already by them.

—By King

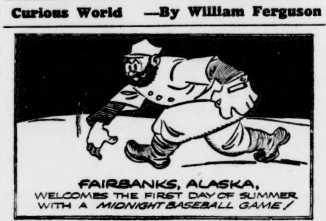

—By Chester Gould

—By Martin

—By Hamlin

Answer: The poem is known as "Mortality," and was written by the Scottish poet, William Knox. It was the favorite of Abraham Lincoln, and he often recited it for friends.

NEXT: What constellation is named for an insect?

At Festival

YARMOUTH, N.S., June 19
Arthur Hatfield, Yarmouth
painter, plans to cycle from Halifax to Vancouver and back. He will collect autographs of mayors the towns and cities he will visit.

KENTVILLE, N.S., June 19.—A "Princess" from the Shenandoah Valley Apple Blossom Festival, and Miss Florence Small, representative of the National Farmers' Union of England, will attend the Annapolis Valley Festival next month.

—By Williams

$1000.00 IN CASH PRIZES

ENTER THIS EASY CONTEST NOW!

Read the instructions carefully

FIRST PRIZE $250.00

SECOND PRIZE $125.00

THIRD PRIZE $ 50.00

FIVE OTHER AWARDS $10.00 EACH

105 OTHER AWARDS $5.00 EACH

THIS CONTEST CLOSSES SATURDAY, JUNE 24. MAIL YOUR QUESTIONNAIRE TODAY

1. Answer each of the following questions to the best of your ability. This information will be kept confidential and used only to check buying habits of the market. You will not be solicited or obligated in any way.
2. Complete the sentence in the box in the lower right hand corner of this page. Use a total of 25 words or less. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of completeness of answers, neatness, and the best sentences submitted.
3. Sign your name and address and mail this page to RESEARCH DIVISION, CANADIAN DAILY NEWSPAPERS ASSOCIATION, Box 425, Adelaide St. Post Office, Toronto, Canada. Your entry must be received not later than June 24, 1959. Any family in Canada is eligible to enter this contest.
4. The judges of this contest will be Glen Bannerman, President, Association of Canadian Advertisers; E. W. Reynolds, President, Canadian Association of Advertising Agencies; William Wallace, President, Canadian Daily Newspapers Association; R. B. Hara, Chairman, and John MacMillan, Director of Research, Bureau of Advertising, Canadian Daily Newspapers Association. The judges' decisions will be final.

ONLY ONE QUESTIONNAIRE WILL BE ACCEPTED FROM EACH FAMILY

1. Do you buy bulk coffee? How many pounds per month? 2. Do you buy package coffee in bags? What brand? How many pounds per month? 3. Do you buy vacuum-packed coffee in tins? What brand? How many pounds per month? 4. Do you buy decaffeinated coffee or coffee substitutes? What brand? How many pounds per month? 5. Do you buy packaged tea? What brand? How many pounds per month? 6. Do you buy bulk tea? What brand? How many pounds per month? 7. Do you buy corn in cans or packages? What brand? How many packages or cans per month? 8. Do you buy powdered food drinks in cans or jars? What brand? How many cans or jars per month? 9. Do you buy package breakfast foods of any kind? (Do not include farina, plain rice, pancake flour or corn meal in this question or any of the following questions.) How many months during the year? 10. Do you buy package breakfast foods that are ready to eat? How many months during the year? 11. Do you buy package breakfast foods that must be cooked before eating? What brand? How many packages per month? 12. Do you buy package CORN breakfast foods? What brand? How many packages per month? 13. Do you buy package WHEAT breakfast foods that are ready to eat? What brand? How many packages per month? 14. Do you buy package WHEAT breakfast foods that must be cooked before eating? What brand? How many packages per month? 15. Do you buy package RICE breakfast foods? What brand? How many packages per month? 16. Do you buy package RICE breakfast foods? What brand? How many packages per month? 17. Do you buy package RICE breakfast foods? What brand? How many packages per month? 18. Do you buy any type of breakfast foods other than those listed above? What brand? How many packages per month? 19. Do you use fresh milk in your family? What dairy? How many quarts per day? How do you buy it? (Check) Delivered by dairy Bought at store 20. Do you buy canned evaporated milk, un-sweetened (contains no sugar)? What brand? How many cans per month? How used—baking? Infant feeding? 21. Do you buy sweetened (thick and heavy) condensed milk? What brand? How many cans per month? How used—baking? Infant feeding?	22. Do you buy cheese in packages, jars or glasses? In packages? What brand? How many packages per month? In jars or glasses? What brand? How many jars or glasses per month? 23. Do you buy bulk or loaf cheese? What brand? How many pounds per month? 24. Do you buy canned soup? Kind: Brand: Cans Per Month: Asparagus Bean Chicken Clam chowder Consomme Cream of tomato Mushroom Onion Pea Scotch broth Vegetable Others 25. Do you buy canned vegetables? Kind: Brand: Cans Per Month: Asparagus Bean, baked Bean, green wax Beets Corn Peas Tomatoes Other vegetables Strained vegetables 26. Do you buy canned meat? Kind: Brand: Cans per Month: Corried beef Chicken Others 27. Do you buy canned salmon? What brand? How many cans per month? 28. Do you buy sardines? What brand? How many tins per month? 29. Do you buy canned tuna fish? What brand? How many cans per month? 30. Do you buy canned fruit? Kind: Brand: Cans Per Month: Cherries Peaches Pears Pineapple 31. Do you buy jam? What brand? How many pounds per month? 32. Do you buy marmalade? What brand? How many pounds per month? 33. What fresh citrus fruits do you buy? Kind: Brand: Per Week: Oranges Grapefruit Lemons 34. Do you buy corn syrup? What brand? How many pounds per month? 35. Do you buy bottled catsup? What brand? How many bottles per month? 36. Do you buy bottled grape juice? What brand? How many bottles per month? 37. Do you buy canned or bottled tomato juice? What brand? How many cans or bottles per month?	38. Do you buy prepared mayonnaise? What brand? How many jars or bottles per month? 39. Do you buy bottled salad dressing? What brand? How many jars or bottles per month? 40. Do you buy sandwich spread? What brand? How many jars or bottles per month? 41. Do you buy bottled pickles? What brand? How many bottles per month? 42. Do you buy loaf sugar in bags? What brand? How many pounds per month? 43. Do you buy package soda crackers? What brand? How many packages per month? 44. Do you buy package fabric dye? What brand? How many packages per month? 45. What brand of toilet soap do you buy for face and hands? How many bars per month? 46. Do you buy bar laundry soap? What brand? How many bars a month? 47. Do you buy soap chips or flakes? What brand? How many packages per month? 48. Do you buy soap granules or powder? What brand? How many packages per month? 49. Do you buy laundry starch? What brand? How many packages per month? 50. Do you use cleaning tissues? What brand? How many packages per month? 51. Do you buy package scouring cleansers? (Do not include regular washing powder or bar scouring cleansers.) What brand? How many packages per month? 52. Do you buy steel wool cleanser? What brand? How many packages per month? 53. Do you buy toilet bowl cleansers in cans or packages? What brand? How many cans or packages per year? 54. Where do you purchase your toilet paper? (Give type of store, such as drug, grocery, department stores.) What brand? How many rolls per month? 55. Do you buy floor wax? What brand? How many pounds per year? 56. On what day of the week do you buy most of your groceries? Independent groceries Chain stores Department stores	57. Do you buy tooth paste in your family? What brand? How many tubes per year? 58. Do you buy tooth powder in your family? (Do not include plate powder.) What brand? How many tins per year? 59. Do you buy mouth wash in your family? (Do not include mouthwash perfume.) What brand? How many ounces per month? 60. Do you buy shampoos in your family? What brand? How much per year? 61. Do you use hand lotions? What brand? How many bottles per year? 62. Where do you and your family buy most of your drug products? (Check where but don't give store names.) Department stores Chain drug stores Independent drug stores Small retail stores 63. What type of cooking range do you use? (Check one.) Electric Gas Oil 64. What other electrical appliances do you use in your home? (Check all that apply.) Refrigerator Washing machine Stove 65. On what day of the week do you do your shopping downtown? Kind: Make:
---	---	--	---

The following questions should be answered by the man of the house!

58. Do you smoke cigarettes?

What brand?

How many per week?

59. Do you smoke cigars?

What brand?

How many per week?

60. Do you smoke a pipe?

What kind of independent pipe?

How many quarts do you use per year?

61. What kind of razor do you use?

Electric

62. What kind of blades do you use?

Kind:

Brand:

63. What kind of shaving soap do you use?

Kind:

Brand:

64. How many persons are in your family?

65. How many in your family are employed?

What occupation?

How many per year?

Answer the following question using a total of not more than 25 words:

What do you find most useful and interesting in your daily newspapers?

General News Local News Financial 1

Sports Editorial Comics 0

Women's Page

I find most useful and interesting because

Name

Address

City

Swaps (

(33) (Continued)

2 CORNER lots and lumber. N. monton. Stand pipe, swap terms to carpenter. 9530 98

EXCELSIOR twin motorcycle with magneto, in good cond. $30 or 7 Harvey Rankin, Vera 1a SECTION good land, partly ed, 4 hours city, West. Trade house. Ph. 72965.

TRADE—Clear deed is sec

21663
anges.
nts.
(34)
ats.
23534

(35) EARLY 1939 Plymouth Custom ing Sedan. Car like new condition. Will sell, trade.
Box 41, Bulletin.

SELL or exchange—1/4 section,
tivated. Buildings. Good
Will take car, truck as pa
ment. Paul Drosdowick, Plains, Man.

(36) M. L. Novak, 10271A 97 St.
INTERNATIONAL truck and 3
1,800 capacity; license include part lumber, small truck, etc.
82 Ave.

(37) WILL swap fine dark Quebec m lumber or building material.
Bulletin.
18' MOTORBOAT, boat carriage

radio combined. Swap for good cash. Ph Ed. Owens. 23225

2 VOLT battery radio with 2-A. les, for wood or anything of Ph 22925

FEED mill, hammer mill, crusher Horse gas engine, for truck farm machinery, real estate. Bulletin

Rentals—

(39)

Hotels

KING'S HOTEL
103 9L, 103 Ave Ph
LOW prices, weekly, daily, &
able rms. Collier Hotel 9645

Rooms, Furnished

COZY room, nicely furnished. $100/week. Good meals. 9803 104 St.

IF you're looking for a comfortable bed-sitting room, apply 10623 96th.

SINGLE room, suitable for gentleman; central; $7.00 monthly. 9813 104th.

FRONT bed-sitting room; group of 3 gentleman preferred; breakfast.

TRAVELLERS! If you're looking for a small bedroom, apply 9928
1 LARGE room, furnished or unfurnished, $10.00. Apply to 931 Ave.
NICELY furnished bedroom, private home. Gentlemanly 82389, 16836 113 St.

Rooms, Housek'g
2 ROOM suite, partly furnished, $12.50 11105 94 St. Ph. 73666
FURNISHED housekeeping ground floor. 10238 108 St.

COMFORTABLE furnished house-
ing room, central. Apply 16139
$15. TWO furnished house-rooms, nice and clean, sink, phone. Also single room, reas.
9617 110 Ave.
TWO roomed suite, unfurnished, conveniences 9038 113 St. Ph.

FURNISHED housekeeping room; connected; $2 weekly. 10147
THREE large unfurnished ground floor, private entrance, burner gas range, immediate session. 10211 109 St.

NEW! Decorated, two bedrooms, fully furnished. 10350 Ph. 21364.

FRONT room, kitchenette, sink, phone, ground floor. 9603 164 St.

BRIGHT, cheerful, clean, quiet furnished or unfurnished, 10148 113 St.

LARGE housekeeping room, furnished, all conveniences.

42) SINGLE room or two roomed under new management. 10816
HOUSEKEEPING rooms for ren-ished. 10649 Jasper Ave.
LARGE sunny room, housekeepboard. Suit two business people.
33748
LARGE bright unfurnished

44) BRIGHT housekeeping rooms, decorated; conveniences; reasonable. 10216 113 St.

unfurnished. Every conven
Reasonable Ph 27213.

RIVERVIEW Apts., Ph. 26944 R
sults; hot, cold running water.
95 St.

ATTRACTIVELY furnished two-ed suite, private entrance; e washer 1023 116 St

TWO-roomed suite, kitchenet

1-2 ROOMED suites nicely furnished. Adults only. Apply 114 St.

SINGLE housekeeping room,
furnished, clothes closet.
Reasonable. 10211 166 St.

CLEAN room, redecorated, fued, fireplace, gas. Utilities G floor. 9325 197A Ave

TWO nicely furnished rooms, a bath. Board on, housekeeping

EMPIRE Apts. furnished or unfurnished suites. Rates moderate.

Wentworth Apartment
Corner 97 St and 162 Ave
ROOMS fully furnished, gas, hot cold water. Also bedrooms by day, week, month. Apply taker or Ph. 26462.

BRIGHT single room, good board in 9044 103 St. Ph. 28418.
FOR real comfortable room and meals call at 10190 112 St.
LARGE double room, twin gentlemen, 10024 107 St. Ph. 23
"A Real Home," better meals; f
ent surroundings, radio, r

1126 95 81
(Continued)

ders Dail
